Teaching Social Responsibility through Literature

A Workshop for Elementary Teachers

March 25, 2010 • 7-9pm

Join Dr. Christianne Hayward for an inspiring discussion about how educators can use high quality picture books to empower students to make a difference. Participants in this workshop will be presented with the best in children's literature, with particular attention to books that nurture reflective thinking and respectful action. Christianne will demonstrate the process of juxtaposing books that deal with the same general topic from different perspectives.

Linking Books through Abstract Themes

A Workshop for Early Childhood and Primary Educators (preschool – gr. 3)

April 15, 2010 • 7-9pm

Sometimes the right book is all you need. In this practical, hands-on workshop, Dr. Christianne Hayward will discuss how educators can use picture books to fuel generative curriculum. She'll demonstrate how using a book rich in subthemes, can spark wide-ranging discussions and activities into your classroom. Picking up on the interests of your students will help determine which books will be used as provocations for deeper inquiry. Christianne will show you how to link books through abstract themes that explore the human condition.

Story-Telling Workshop

A Workshop for Early Childhood and Primary Educators (preschool – gr. 3)

May 20, 2010 • 7-9pm

Participants of this workshop can expect to be exposed to an outstanding array of resources and story-telling techniques. The hands-on portion of this workshop allows for the sharing of ideas and networking between colleagues. The Lyceum offers an open, pleasant environment where teachers can relax and enjoy the learning process.

Highlights of this Workshop will include:

- Discussion regarding when to augment stories beyond their original format
- Differentiating story-telling from story-reading
- Opportunity for participants to make the props for at least one story to take away

Christianne is happy to create a professional development workshop specifically designed for your school. Delivered either at your school, or at the Lyceum, the workshop can be a modified version of one of our popular seminars, or something completely new. Past school-specific workshops have included:

- Creative Writing (including no-fail writing prompts, and using the 6+1 Traits as part of the editing process)
- Embracing Diversity Through Literature
- Books that Support Themes of Environmental Sustainability
- Developing Literature Circles for Intermediate Grades Around Subject Performance Standards

Please contact the Lyceum at 604.733.1356 for more details.
